The purpose of this amendment is to include the following questions & answers and amend the Purchase Description.

Questions and Answers

Question 1:

Under 3.4.3, Maneuverability, section a) states that "Be capable of operating in a 54" wide aisle having at least 5 inch clearance on each side"

Does this statement mean that the aisle is 64" overall width (from pallet to pallet or rack to rack) or does it mean that the stock picker cannot be any wider than 44" (44" overall width + 5" clearance on each side = 54") ?

Answer 1:

The actual overall width of aisles is 50 inches at the location where these stockpickers would be used. So the overall width of the stockpicker must not exceed 44 inches.

Question 2:

Under 3.4.3, Maneuverability, section a) states that "Be capable of operating in a 54" wide aisle having at least 5 inch clearance on each side"

Since this unit is being used with Wire Guidance (can go as little as 2" clearance on each side), would it be acceptable to have an overall stock picker width of 56" with 4" clearance on each side? "

Answer 2:

No - an overall stockpicker width of 56 inches will not be acceptable.
