AMENDMENT 001

The purpose of this amendment is to answer questions from suppliers.

Question 1:

I've noticed that the Crye Precision Multicam™ are in question. Do they have to be Multicam™ or would Cadpat™ be acceptable?

Answer 1:

Cadpat™ will not be accepted. As per annex B paragraph 3.2a), the material must have a Multicam™ camouflage pattern.

Question 2:

Do the requested uniforms have to be from Crye Precision or would a Canadian company with the same product be permitted to submit a bid?

Answer 2:

An equivalent product as the one requested can be submitted. For more details on what constitutes an equivalent product, please consult the Request for Proposal under Part 4, section 1.1.1.3 Equivalent Products and the Annex C.

Question 3:

In the Crye Precision shirts, the elbow protectors are not included (integrated). Would combat shirts with integrated elbow protectors be acceptable or do they have to be separated?

Answer 3:

As per Annex B under 3.6, 3.7 and 3.8, elbow and knee protectors must be included. If by "integrated" it is understood that the elbow protectors are attached, sewn or otherwise permanently adhered to the combat shirts, then the answer is "no". The elbow protectors must be both stable while in use and removable when desired. This is also the case for the knee protectors.

Question 4:

MULTICAM: It mentions a "proprietary design for a computer generated digital camouflage pattern patented by Crye Precision Inc". Is the fabric CADPAT printed? If not, please advise what is the "Multicam" pattern for us to properly do the product.

Answer 4:

MULTICAM is not CADPAT and only a MULTICAM camouflage pattern is acceptable. As stated in the question, MULTICAM is a computer generated digital camouflage pattern patented by Crye Precision Inc. As such, it must only be printed or replicated with the proper licenses.

Question 5:

DEFENDER M-DM9210: Due to the unique requirements of this material, the material shall be “DEFENDER M-DM9210” manufacture by Royal TenCate Inc. or an equivalent material. What is considered equivalent? Could you please provide technical specification for DEFENDER M-DM9210.

Answer 5:

For more details on equivalent product, please refer to the Request for Proposal under Part 4, section 1.1.1.3 Equivalent Products and to the Annex C. You will find the technical specification for DEFENDER M-DM9210 on the following website:

http://www.tencate.com/TenCate/Protective-fabrics-EMEA/documents/Sell-sheets/Defender%20M/Engelsd/EN_DM_DM9210.pdf

All other terms and conditions remain unchanged.
