Question 1

The Project Executive Grid went through several iterations since the RFP was released on April 17th. Of the three rated question, R3 which relates to experience was originally worth 55% of the rated score. With the last amendment and grid changes, experience is now only worth 38% of the overall grid, making it impossible to score 45.5 (the minimum score) unless the candidate has both the education and the PMP. The education (R1) and the PMP (R2) are now effectively mandatory requirements since there is no way to score the minimum score without scoring full points on R1 and R2. Therefore, a candidate with 20 years of experience and a PMP does not meet the minimum score while a candidate with a degree, a PMP and 1 year of project experience does meet the minimum score.

Therefore, we are requesting that the Crown reduce the minimum score to 45/65 from 45.5/65 in light of the fact that 0.5 of a mark cannot be attained on R1 and R2.

Answer 1

The points are changed as follows:

R1 rating is changed from 20 points and lowered to 10 points;

R2 remains unchanged; and

R3 rating is changed from 25 points and is now worth 35 points as follows:

Up to 7 points per project in accordance with the scales below:

7 points: Over 12 months of demonstrated experience;

5 points: 8 months to 12 months of demonstrated experience;

3.5 points: 4 months to 7 months of demonstrated experience;

0 points: 3 months or less of experience.
