Answer to request for clarification:

Question 1 :

In Part 4, second paragraph of section 1.1.1, the RFP states: "Bidders must understand that their bid will not be automatically eliminated if their bid is deemed not meeting one or more mandatory Technical Requirements during the evaluation. However, these Technical Requirements, described in Annex A, must be met by the deliverable prototype. The degree of bid's compliance with these Technical Requirements will be used in the evaluations of Point Rated Criteria # 1 Relevance of the Technology."

There seems to be a contradiction between meeting the mandatory requirements for the deliverable hardware but not for the proposal evaluation. Could you please clarify?

Answer 1:

It is expected that the bidders will propose prototype concepts that will meet all the mandatory requirements, and include convincing justification in the proposal that supports these claims. However, the evaluators, based on the information contained in the proposals, may or may not agree with such justification and hence, may evaluate that the proposed concepts may or may not meet all these requirements. As a result, the proposal with the concept deemed to best fulfill the most requirement will obtain the highest point rating of the Point Rated Criteria # 1 Relevance of the Technology.

Question 2:

Can you confirm if the maximum funding given in the solicitation has to be met for the delivery of a prototype that meets all the mandatory requirements defined in the Statement of Work (Annex A)?

Answer 2:

Yes, the delivered prototype must meet all mandatory requirements.

All other clauses and conditions remain the same.
