Addendum # 1
27 June 2013English:

1. Question:

We have reviewed the tender documents, and are wondering if you know how many land based holes vs. marine holes this program has (approximately)?

Answer:

We do not have a breakdown for the two types of bore hole requirements. The requirements are project based and the clients have not supplied PWGSC of the location of there proposed marine works. The last 5 years there has not been a requirement for plant bore hole data but this is not to imply no marine hole will be required during the life of this contract
