Clarification Question:

The following clarification question has been received from industry in response to LOI W8474-11MP01/F. The clarification question and corresponding answer are hereby provided to industry as follows:

Question 1

"In our experience, performing the Business Process Re-engineering (BPR) effort independently of the PeopleSoft software can lead to extra cost and lower quality, as can using separate vendors for BPR and implementation.

a) Why has the crown chosen to bid out the components separately?"

Answer 1

Canada has not chosen to bid out BPR separately from the SI requirement. Canada has chosen to bid out Business Change Management (BCM) separately from the SI requirement. Canada expects that BPR will be an integral part of the ERP implementation for which the SI will be the prime. The BCM contractor will be the prime for leading the "people side of change" for the business process changes that will be proposed by the SI.
