Q1: We believe the aluminum siding to match existing is no longer available. Will an alternate siding (ie. Hardie Plank) be acceptable?

R1: If the siding is no longer available, yes, an alternate siding/system will be acceptable.

Q2: Is the Building Permit applied for and paid for by others?

R2: Application and payment for the building permit and all/any other permits to be the Contractor's responsibility.

Q3: For Bidding purposes, can PWGSC confirm all pile and concrete foundations have been inspected and approved?

R3: Contractors to assume that all pile and concrete foundations have been inspected and approved and are within accepted industry tolerances. Inspection/test reports will be made available to the successful contractor.

Q4: Has all structural steel and reinforcing steel shop drawings been approved?

R4: Contractors to assume that all structural steel and reinforcing steel shop drawings have been approved. Approved shop drawings will be made available to the successful contractor.

Q5: Has all existing concrete been tested and passed strength limits?

R5: Contractors to assume that all poured concrete has been tested and meets required strength limits. Test results will be made available to the successful contractor.

Q6: Are all imbedded plates installed in proper locations in foundations?

R6: Contractors are to assume that imbedded plates have been installed in the proper locations and within accepted industry tolerances.

Q7: For bidding purposes can we assume all structural steel and joists are constructed to be used on 4-bed addition with no modifications?

R7: Contractors are to assume that structural steel and joists left on site for this project are approved for use without modifications. Note that PWGSC is unable to provide an inventory of the site material.

Q8: For bidding purposes can we assume that the extent of all concrete foundations and sidewalks are as shown on tender documents?

R8: Contractors are to assume that the extent of all concrete foundations and sidewalks are as shown in the tender package.

Q9: For bidding purposes can we assume that all concrete reinforcing for the entire project is on site and no additional reinforcing is required?

R9: Contractors are to assume that all concrete reinforcing left on site for this project are approved for use without modifications. Note that PWGSC is unable to provide an inventory of the site material.
