Re: Canada Post Corporation to continue using MERX for all NAFTA opportunities

Canada Post Corporation will continue to use MERX (www.merx.com) for the indefinite future as its primary portal for Notice of Proposed Procurements and for all opportunities that are subject to the North American Free Trade Agreement (NAFTA).

You may be aware that as of June 1, 2013, federal government departments will publish Notices of Proposed Procurement (NPP) and related documents on the new Government of Canada Government Electronic Tendering Service (www.Buyandsell.gc.ca/tenders). Canada Post will post a reference document on the new Government Electronic Tendering Service; however, all related documents and amendments will be available only through MERX.

Furthermore, regional transportation opportunities will continue to be posted on our Canada Post Internet site found under Transportation Contracting Services:

<http://www.canadapost.ca/cpo/mc/aboutus/suppliers/transportation/transportation.jsf>

Going forward, all costs associated with obtaining documents from MERX, previously subsidized by PWGSC, will now be born by the proposer.

Canada Post will not reimburse proposers for costs incurred for services provided by MERX. Please direct all questions related to services provided by MERX, including fees, to the following telephone number (1-800-964-6379) or visit their website. The following is a link to the pricing table available on MERX:
