Under equipment schedule, add the following note, "The design is based on the products listed in this equipment schedule. Any manufacturer may provide a product if that product meets or exceeds the quality and performance of the specified product. Manufacturers may be required at any time to provide supporting documentation proving that the product supplied meets or exceeds the requirements of the specifications. It is the sole responsibility of the Contractor to ensure each product used meets the specifications and if it is deemed that a product does not meet the specifications, it shall be replaced with a suitable product at no cost. Revisions required to adapt installation to equipment other than that specified shall be made without extra charge to the Owner. Where Manufacturers of a product are denoted with an Only designation, those are the only Manufacturers that will be allowed for this project, this includes steam traps, steam pressure reducing valves, high pressure steam isolation valves, high pressure steam isolation by-pass valve, and low pressure steam and condensate isolation valves.
