Addendum 02

Date: September 4, 2013

Question:

I wanted to make sure which division (ventilation or controls) has to carry the cost of the variable-frequency drives (VFD), as part of the above-mentioned project.

Answer:

As indicated in section 230933, the contractor for Controls is a sub-contractor of the contractor for Ventilation. Considering that the VFDs will obviously be installed by the contractor for Controls, the latter can also make the purchase even if the equipment is specified in the Ventilation section (233400).

The tenderer for ventilation will thus carry the costs, considering that the price for controls will be included in his bidding price.

Precisions following the tender's visit:
