BELT, DUTY, NYLON AND ASSEMBLY ITEMS

Solicitation Amendment No. 002 is raised to provide answers to questions raised by bidders as follows:

Question 1:

Section 4.4.1 requires the belt thickness to be 6mm. However, the total of the 5 layers is more like 7mm. There is no thickness mentioned for the nylon webbing or the hook tape. If we laminate all 5 layers and it compresses to 6mm when entering the holster, is that the intent of the specification?

Answer 1:

There are tolerances allowed for in the construction of the belt. Regardless of the dimensions, the belt must be usable with an approved RCMP holster. Therefore, compression of the belt materials after lamination will be allowed for compliance with this requirement.

Question 1:

Section 4.1.9.1 "Stiffener" Since we can't see the stiffener is there a trade name to which we can refer? Alternatively, are there formulation specifications for the combination of leather vs rubber? Is this actually "bonded leather"?

Answer 1:

There is no trade name or formulation specification at this point for the stiffener in the belt. Bonded leather would be suitable provided the stiffness of the belt matches that of the viewing sample.

All other terms and conditions remain the same.
