Question:

We are preparing our proposal for the mentioned tender now.

As for the additional "One-Year Option Period", do we need to propose the price or we do not have to include any prices in case we would not want to continue for 1 additional year.

We don't think we can confirm the fees to remain the same for the next 2 year period...

Answer:

Pricing must be provided for the initial standing offer period as well as for the one year option period. When preparing the pricing for the option period, it is the bidder's responsibility to factor in all potential cost changes that could occur in the option period. The pricing for the initial standing offer period and the option period do not have to be the same.
