SECTION 1 – INTRODUCTION

1.1 PURPOSE OF THIS RFP

The International Development Research Centre's (IDRC) Corporate Strategy and Evaluation Division is looking for evaluators to serve on an external review panel for the Centre's Governance, Security and Justice (GSJ) program.

The external review panel will have three (3) people who have complementary skills and expertise in program evaluation and the specific themes and results of the GSJ program. The Corporate Strategy and Evaluation Division (CSED) is seeking individuals and will select members of the review team not only on the basis of individual strengths, but also on how individuals will fit together in a team that can address the breadth of the programming under review. It is not expected that any single candidate will hold all the requisite strengths needed for an external review.

1.2 OVERVIEW TO EXTERNAL PROGRAM REVIEWS

External reviews are independent evaluations of IDRC's work. They are performed for each program once every 5 years. They are summative evaluations which focus on the performance of a program. Previous external reviews of IDRC programs are available on the IDRC website.

The Centre's Board of Governors are the primary intended users of the external reviews. Senior management, the programs themselves, and IDRC donor partners are secondary users. The reviews are used for accountability to the Board for implementation of the program and delivery of program results, to guide future programming, and to improve program effectiveness.

1.3 IDRC OVERVIEW AND INTRODUCTION TO THE PROGRAMS TO BE REVIEWED

IDRC is a Canadian Crown Corporation established by an act of Parliament in 1970.

IDRC was created to help developing countries find solutions to their problems. It encourages, supports, and conducts research in the world's developing regions, and seeks to apply new knowledge to the economic and social improvement of those regions. IDRC aims to reduce poverty, improve health, support innovation, and safeguard the environment in developing regions.

IDRC employs about 400 people at its Ottawa, Ontario, Canada head office and at its global regional offices. For more details visit: www.idrc.ca

The program that will undergo external review is:

Governance, Security and Justice (GSJ): Some 1.5 billion people live in areas affected by violent conflict and large-scale organized crime. Persistent insecurity is causing widespread human suffering and represents one of the most significant challenges to development today. IDRC's Governance, Security, and Justice program funds research that addresses these issues. This research focuses on states that are weak or fragile, as well as on communities and marginalized groups that suffer from persistent insecurity, injustice, and abuse of power at the local level in otherwise democratic states. The program supports research that examines how states and societies interact to build secure, just, and responsive societies. GSJ supported research aims to influence debates, policies, and practices, which provides citizens and public authorities with evidence-based solutions. These solutions should respond to the development challenges posed by violent conflict, large-scale organized crime, and weak governance.

SECTION 2: SCOPE OF WORK

2.1 EVALUATION QUESTIONS

The terms of reference for the external review panel asks for a judgment on the performance (strengths/weaknesses) of the program in terms of the following:

- 1. How did the program perform in implementing its prospectus?
- 2. Overall, was the quality of the research supported by the program acceptable (given the context/intended purpose/etc.)?
- 3. To what extent are the program's outcomes relevant and significant?
- 4. What are the key issues for IDRC's Board of Governors and senior management?

2.2 EVALUATION PROCESS

The starting point for the review will be a summative self-assessment prepared by the program, based on the information they have collected during the implementation of the program. The role of the panel is to question, critically reflect on, and ultimately judge the program. They will verify the content of the program's final prospectus report for evidence and reasonableness. To formulate its views, the panel will design an evaluation using appropriate evaluation methods.

2.3 REQUIREMENTS OF EXTERNAL REVIEWERS

Each External Reviewer will be asked to:

- contribute 25 days of work.
- participate in a 2 day orientation workshop in Ottawa, Canada in October 2014.
- contribute to developing a work plan and evaluation framework.
- review documents; collect and analyze supplementary data via interviews, surveys, focus groups; and use other evaluation methods. Travel for data collection is not anticipated.

- participate in a 5 day panel meeting in Ottawa, Canada in February 2015 to consolidate evidence, present and discuss preliminary findings, and begin writing the draft report.
- contribute to a 15 page report on the review panel's findings and conclusions, plus annexes.
- contribute to a draft findings brief of the external review.
- If requested by the program after the review is finished, member(s) of the panel may be contracted for up to three additional days of work to provide advice as the program develops its concept note and/or prospectus for their next five year program plan.

2.4 OUTPUTS AND TIMELINES

Timeline for the external reviews for each program	Date
Panels receive background documents about IDRC and the program, as well as the detailed scope of work for the evaluation	Week of 15 th August, 2014
Panels receive the program's self-assessment report	Week of Sept.1st, 2014
Panels meet in Ottawa for 2-day orientation and introduction to the programs	October 2014
Panels submit work plans and evaluation framework	Week of Nov. 3 rd 2014
Panels present draft findings Panels and programs discuss findings and conclusions	February 2015
Panels submit draft external review reports	Mid-March 2015
Panels submit final external review reports and draft findings brief*	Mid-April 2015

^{*}The findings brief will be finalized and translated by CSED, combining the program's self-assessment and the External Review report. The programs' self-assessment, the external review report, and the findings brief will be submitted to the Centre's Board of Governors. Once accepted by the Board, CSED will post the external reviews on the IDRC website: http://www.idrc.ca/EN/Programs/Evaluation/Pages/External-Program-Reviews.aspx

2.5 LOCATION OF WORK AND TRAVEL

Due to the type of Services required, the successful proponent will be able to work from his/her own location. IDRC will not provide onsite facilities for the proponent, other than providing facilities for on-site meetings.

Travel will be required by the proponent to attend the 2 day orientation workshop and the 5 day panel meeting in Ottawa, Canada. This contract offered for the external reviews will cover the costs of travel to Ottawa from the proponent's home. Travel and accommodation will be organized by IDRC's travel agent.

2.6 EXPERTISE REQUIREMENT IN THE REVIEW PANELS

Each external review will be undertaken by a panel of up to three (3) people who, together, have skills and senior-levels of experience in the following areas:

- Experience with research for development.
- Understanding of how to evaluate the quality and results of development research programming.
- Sectoral knowledge relevant to the Governance, Security and Justice program:
 The ability to assess the impact of locally grounded approaches to enhance the legitimacy and accountability of public authorities in terms of:
 - Governance: political settlements and political processes;
 - Security: crime prevention and violence reduction; and
 - Justice: state and private impunity in relation to discrimination and sexual violence, and enhancing access to justice for marginalized groups.

Specific consideration will also be given to those who understand the gendered dimensions of these issues and areas where ICT enabled approaches can make a difference.

- Broad knowledge of the GSJ field, including issues, trends, institutions, networks and policy communities in Latin America, Middle East, Africa and/or Asia.
- Language capacities (within each external review panel, we need reviewers who speak and/or read English, French and Spanish. But we do not expect all panel members to speak all three languages).
- Independence from the program under review (have not received an IDRC grant from GSJ in the last two years, no conflicts of interest, and no stake in the evaluation outcome).

Note: The external review panel will receive the support of a junior consultant, identified by IDRC and contracted separately. The junior consultant will serve as a research assistant, communications coordinator, and provide logistical support to the panel. This person is not expected to be involved in the judgment of the program, but supports the evaluative work of the panelists.

2.7 BUDGET

IDRC's fees for each external reviewer will be 900 CAD per day for their work, plus HST if applicable.

IDRC will arrange and pay for travel associated with the review.

Each external review panel will have a budget of up to CAD 2,500 for expenses related to the evaluation.

SECTION 3 - PROPOSAL FORMAT

For this request, a "proposal" consists of a cover letter and CV only. Submissions can be submitted in French or English.

The cover letter must:

- discuss recent relevant experience considering the expertise required in the external review panel (section 2.6); and
- include a statement regarding your independence from the program, or highlight any potential conflicts of interest that CSED should consider.

CV's should highlight sections that are most relevant for this external review.

SECTION 4 – PROPOSAL EVALUATION CRITERIA

This section describes the process that IDRC will use to evaluate proposals and select proponents for the external review panels. The process is divided into three (3) steps:

Step 1: Each proponent's submission (cover letter, CV, and statement of independence) will be reviewed to ensure demonstration the following mandatory requirements*:

- Submission date/time;
- Statement of independence;
- Experience with development research;
- Understanding of how to evaluate the quality and results of development research programming; and,
- Sectoral experience and knowledge relevant to the program (see Section 2.6).

We suggest that a proponent clearly addresses these criteria in the cover letter and highlight them in their CV.

* Mandatory requirements:

Each proposal will be examined to determine compliance with each mandatory requirement identified in this RFP. A mandatory requirement is a minimum standard that a proposal must meet in order to be considered for further evaluation. Mandatory is defined as having substantial compliance as assessed by IDRC in its sole and absolute discretion.

Important Note: Proposals which fail, in the sole discretion of IDRC, to meet any mandatory requirement will be eliminated from further consideration in the evaluation process. However, IDRC reserves the right to waive any mandatory requirements if it deems fit and appropriate to meet the interests of and provide best value to IDRC. This clause should be interpreted solely for the benefit of IDRC and not for the benefit of the Proponents.

Step 2: Proposals which demonstrate that the proponent satisfies each of the mandatory criteria will be rated based on the individual strengths stemming from the list of requirements within Section 2.6. In addition, proposals will be rated vis-à-vis other qualified applicants with a view to building a team of complementary reviewers.

Step 3: Each shortlisted proponent will be invited for an interview (in person or via teleconference) with the IDRC staff members. Final selection will be based on individual strengths (Section 2.6), and on how individuals will fit together in a team that can address the breadth of the programming under review.
