4	Minutes of the Bidder's Conference	22-09-2014	With reference to the subject solicitation, and in particular to Amendment 1, Part 4 - article 1.1.2, which states that: 1.1.2.1 Previous Work Experience It is our opinion that the 3rd bullet "In order to qualify under the "Previous Work Experience" section of the RFP, the bidder must consider his own experience and expertise. If he worked in conjunction with a subcontractor in his past realisations, he cannot use the experience and expertise of that subcontractor against its own scoring. He can include the work of a subcontractor if he was the prime contractor for the previous work and was responsible for all the work of the subcontractor" unfairly restricts and in fact eliminates the formation of a consortium consisting of otherwise well qualified bidders from responding to this solicitation. Would Canada consider removing this limitation, or if our interpretation is incorrect, then clarifying it?	By setting this requirement Canada is trying to contract with the most qualified bidder as prime contractor and not to unfairly restricts or eliminates the formation of a consortium consisting of well qualified bidders that will execute the contract. Canada is providing the following additional clarification against the referenced bidder's conference minutes for article 1.1.2.1 "Previous Work Experience"; "In order to qualify under the "Previous Work Experience" section of the RFP, the bidder must consider his own experience and expertise. If he worked in conjunction with a subcontractor in his past realizations and was not the prime contractor, he cannot use the experience and expertise of that subcontractor against his own scoring. unless that subcontractor will form a part of the project team for this project.
