Q4: Are there storm drains near to the work area that the contractor can discharge water from the tunnel into?

Q5: Will PWGSC/EGD be managing the water leakage within the work area during the contract?

A5: The contractor is responsible for managing water leakage within the work areas. PWGSC/EGD will install single point of engineer certified isolation and complete initial dewatering of the work area prior to turning over the work areas to the contractor for their execution of the contract. Refer to Section 011155.

Q6: Is PWGSC/EGD going to have to complete confined space procedures at the start of and during each work day prior to the contractor entering the work area?
