This first (001) amendment is raised to first modify the closing date from November 12th to November 19, 2015.

Questions and answers:

Q1: Because raw meat is not uniformly rectangular and symmetric in shape, it will be extremely labour intensive and wasteful to select only pieces of jerky that meet 100% the requirement "final product must consist of strips of beef between 2 cm - 4 cm in length, 0.7 cm - 1.2 cm wide and 0.4 cm - 0.8 cm thick"

Would DND approve/accept:

- at least 75% of pieces by weight meet all three dimension requirements
- at most 20% of pieces meet by weight two out of three dimension requirements
- no more than 5% of pieces by weight fall out of spec of the requirement
- in 19 out of 20 packages (95%) by weight

Our quality control and manufacturing can readily support these standards; if the standards need to approach 100% compliance for the jerky pieces as originally described, costing will be significantly impacted due to labour for inspection and waste (especially as we are processing from 100% natural non-chopped-and-formed whole muscle beef).

A!:

Yes, DND would accept that. It would be unrealistic to expect 100% to meet the specifications

- at least 75% of pieces by weight meet all three dimension requirements
- at most 20% of pieces meet by weight two out of three dimension requirements
- no more than 5% of pieces by weight fall out of spec of the requirement
- in 19 out of 20 packages (95%)
