Clarification Example for B.3 above

If an Offeror desires to indicate a 7% mark-up, 7.0 should be entered into column A, and $840K ($12M x .07) is to be entered into Column C. If an entry of 0.7 is entered into column A, then the appropriate Column C amount is $84K ($12M x .007).

1. QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Q3. B2 Normal: "support may be required for 8 hours per day for 5 days during 7 days period"

Question: in case our local representative will be requested to work

6 days instead of 5, and the 6th day will be required to work for 8 hours, is it correct to assume that 7 hours will follow under the "overtime" quoted price, and 1 hour under the "call-out" quoted price?

A3. Correct. Day 6 will consist of 7 hours of overtime and 1 hour of "call-out". Same would apply for day 7.

Q4. B2 "On site representative" shall be considered as one person only or the components of the gang as necessary to handle the specific task?

Let's pretend a large operation with 120 people will be carried out in Jamaica for 2 months; based on our experience, in order to handle such an operation, 1 person is certainly not enough: in this case the contractor will be entitled to charge for a second on site representative or also the second (or third) person on the scene will follow under the firm rate quoted for the on site representative under column A (or under column D in case of extension)?

A4. Column A and D are for one(1) on-site person at a hourly rate. Should the CAF operations require the contractor to have more than one (1) on-site representative the rates identified under column A and D shall apply for any additional on-site representative. If required, additional on-site representative will be negotiated during the call-up process between CAF and the Contractor based on the contractor's ability to meet CAF demands and the required level of effort.
