Questions

Question #18

Reference:

- Question and Answer #3
- Bid Solicitation modification no. 2
- Annex A – Statement of Work, 5.5 Acceptance testing

Question: What does the acceptance test report look like?

Answer: The acceptance test report is a document (such as a Word document or Excel table) in which a description of the test(s) performed and the results obtained is provided for each specification (5.1.1-5.1.10 and their sub-items if applicable). The description of the tests performed and results obtained must be sufficient to convince the Technical Authority (TA) that each specification is met. Drawings, diagrams or pictures of test setups can be included if deemed beneficial.

Two examples are provided below. They are provided as guidelines only with the understanding that: (i) the tests performed by the Winning Bidder and their descriptions will differ from the examples presented below and (ii) some requirements might require greater depth in the description of the tests and of their results.

Text format:

Specification 5.1.9: Power supply

Requirement: The OT System must operate from 115VAC/60Hz nominal power supply. If adapters are required to meet this requirement, the Contractor must supply these adapters.

Test performed: The complete optical tracking system was connected to a 115VAC/60Hz source. All its electrical components (positioner, video camera and video tracking hardware) were powered on and their operation verified.

Result obtained: The system operated normally.
