ANNEX "E", Aboriginal Participation Component

Delete:

This project will include an Aboriginal Participation Component (APC) which is a mechanism designed to meet the Government of Canada's objectives of encouraging Aboriginal socio-economic development opportunities. The APC is designed to develop long-term sustainable and meaningful socio-economic benefits for Aboriginal people, businesses and communities.

Labour benefits: Aboriginal peoples may be preferentially hired, fulfilling an agreed upon number of Aboriginal employees. Training for these positions also could be provided through local classes and apprenticeships or scholarships and bursaries could be provided. A minimum of two local Aboriginal¹ field support personnel must be employed by the contractor to assist during the water sampling at Stony Point.

A minimum of one of the following benefits must be included in the Aboriginal Participation Component of the Contract:

1. Economic development benefits: Recognition and support of relevant local Aboriginal businesses that are registered on the Aboriginal Business Directory through preferential sub-contracting, as long as local businesses are able to provide goods and services at competitive prices in an efficient and timely manner.
2. Community benefits: Funding for youth programs, social programs, community projects and physical infrastructure; the facilitation of on-going communication between the Contractor and the community through the establishment of advisory committee meetings hosted and funded by the Contractor.
3. Environmental benefits: Establishment of environmental planning and monitoring committees; reclamation commitments; ongoing efforts to minimize harmful activity in culturally significant areas.
