ANNEX A-1

Question and Answer no. 1:

Question 1:

Is the survey of the literature and available systems also to include autonomous and semi-autonomous systems? These systems collect and retain data in much the same way as the existing EDR systems. This will add a level of complexity to this assessment, particularly since the rapid rate of development and implementation of autonomous technology will cause the state of the art to evolve significantly during the duration of this project.

Answer 1:

The survey of the literature and available systems does not include autonomous and semi-autonomous systems.

Question and Answer no. 2:

Question 2:

Are you able to provide any examples of project reports that are similar to what is expected from this project?

Answer 2:

No. The description of the deliverables provides a very general outline of what is expected.
