Please advise how suppliers are to ensure these items work together or remove them from the immediate requirement.

ANSWER 11:

The SA rules states; RULE: Category 1 and 2

. Is it possible to have clear indication on the floor plans which typical workstation is where? The floor plans show locations of furniture systems power poles, however in some cases their location does not make sense. ie. Also in situations for benching products (Tower 3.3, A4, workstations W103, W123, W124, W130, W131, W137), there seems to be a gap/space between the benches and the furniture systems power poles. Clarification is required.

ANSWER 19:

WS1 - See detail 02 on all plans – example is T3-3-W098 – Qty. 6 per floor plate

WS2 - Benches are coded as B1 on plans – example is T3-3-W123/T3-3-W101 (two work ids per typical)

WS3 - Benches are coded as B2 on plans – example is T3-3-W087 (one work id per typical)

WS4 - Benches are not shown on plans – there is a blank space on plans as these are not in contract (not available in the SA) and will be purchased separately. Its pretty easy to figure out where these go – example is T3-3-W124/T3-3-W103 (two work ids per typical)

WS5 - Tables are coded as AT1 on plans – example is T3-3-W139 (one work id per typical)

WS6 - Tables are coded as AT2 on plans with exception of ones in workstations WS1 as AT2 is a part of WS1 and WS6 - example is T3-3-W145 (one work id per typical)

OFF1 - Desks are coded as D1, Credenza as D1 and Hutch as D4 (example would be office T3-3-225) – Qty. 5 per floor plate

OFF2 - Desks are coded as D1, Credenza as D3 and Hutch as D4 (example would be office T3-3-235) – Qty. 1 per floor plate
