1. QUESTION / ANSWER

Q1. The metal flashing trim included in the specification is 1.6mm thick Stainless steel which will be very difficult to bend into the cap flashing and shapes required and is not the typical, the installers I have contacted have indicated that they may not be able to make the shapes as it approaches plate thickness, they indicated typical thickness for this type of flashing is 0.475mm thick. Would this be an acceptable alternative?

A1. Reduction to 0.475mm can be accepted.
