Part 2 Questions

In 09 65 16 2.1.8, the spec asks for a 1/2" underlayment plywood – to my knowledge such a format is no longer manufactured. It once was, but the costs of commodities has driven it out of the market. Most commonly are products that sit in the 1/4" area (3/16 and 5/16 most commonly). Is the 1/2" specified to match an existing height, or is this an old spec that's being re-used?

1/4" and 5/16" underlayment materials are acceptable – The product chosen must be compatible with the chosen flooring to ensure that the flooring warranty will remain valid. Supply a cut sheet with the shop drawings.
