

Federal retirees, your community needs you

Every year, thousands of federal retirees like you make donations to the Government of Canada Workplace Charitable Campaign (GCWCC). If you haven't made your donation, it's not too late to change a life in your community.

JP, is 67 years old, and with arthritis in both knees, he has trouble getting around. JP lives alone, putting him at risk of health complications or depression. Thanks to United Way support, JP can access a Friendly Visiting Program, and has made a new friend in Heather, who helps him stay active and socially connected.

Ben lives with heart disease. Thanks to the Heart and Stroke Foundation's education and support programs, he successfully recovered from a high-risk surgery at just five years old. Ben is now a teenager and is living proof that donating to HealthPartners works.

You can give today to United Way, HealthPartners, or any other registered Canadian charities by calling 1-877-379-6070.

Robert Morin
Former Secretary General, CRTC
GCWCC Retiree Campaign Supporter
and federal retiree since 2004

Margaret Bloodworth
Former National Security Advisor
GCWCC Retiree Campaign Supporter
and federal retiree since 2008

Be a star in someone's life.
Support your community.

For more information visit the gcwcc.org/retirees website. Thank you for your support.

This campaign is managed by United Way/Centraide on behalf of the Treasury Board of Canada.

PWGCWCC201701