Appendix B Statement of Work

TITLE: Artificial Intelligence Insights into Regulations

PURPOSE

The Canada School of Public Service (CSPS) in partnership with the Treasury Board of Canada Secretariat (TBS) is engaging organizations that employ artificial intelligence methods, including advanced data analytics (ADA) and machine learning (ML) approaches, to offer new insight and analysis on federal regulations. This information may assist in identifying opportunities for regulatory modernization in order to ensure that regulations support innovation, growth and competitiveness while protecting the health, safety, and well-being of Canadians, and the environment.

To this end, the purpose of this work is to use ADA and ML methods to examine the large and diverse stock of over 2,600 federal regulations. This work could, for example, contribute to the following themes:

- carrying out a linguistic analysis of regulations,
- providing insight on consolidation/aggregation/streamlining of regulations,
- identifying areas of compliance/reporting burden, and,
- providing other regulatory insights based on own knowledge or review of issues identified by stakeholders.

The resulting analysis products would be publicly available, and inform advice provided by the Treasury Board of Canada Secretariat leading up to the federal Budget 2019.

CONTEXT

As described in the Cabinet Directive on Regulatory Management, regulation is a key policy instrument used by government to enable economic activity and to protect the health, safety, security, and environment of Canadians.

Regulation is a form of law with binding effect made by the Executive Branch of the Government of Canada. Often referred to as "delegated," "secondary," or "subordinate legislation," regulations are made by persons to whom or bodies to which Parliament has delegated authority, such as Cabinet (as the Governor in Council), a Minister, or an administrative agency. Authority to make regulations must be expressly delegated through enabling legislation.

At the federal level, there are over 2600 regulations (see Consolidated Regulations at <http://laws-lois.justice.gc.ca/eng/regulations/>) that are enabled by 800 Acts (see Consolidated Acts at <http://laws-lois.justice.gc.ca/eng/acts/>). Regulations cover areas ranging from food safety, to airport zoning, to migratory birds, to radio-spectrum allocation.

SCOPE

This statement of work is purposefully broad in scope to allow for new analytical approaches to achieve the stated objectives. Such analysis could involve a range of analytical approaches using many and varied data and information sources. For example:

Language of Regulations

- Legislation and regulations may sometimes create inadvertent barriers to innovation. The proposal could identify indicators of barriers to innovation in the language of the regulations. Similarly, the proposal may determine indicators that support a more agile, transparent and responsive regulatory system.
- For example, the prescriptivity of regulations (potentially indicated by words like shall and must rather than may) or reference to particular measures/measurements or very specific or detailed requirements, rather than the outcomes to be achieved.
- For example, there may be inconsistent use of language within one regulation, and sometimes among different regulations made by the same regulator. A regulation may use different verbs to describe similar actions, for example, “surveillance” and “monitoring”. The proposal could identify inconsistent use of language. Alternatively, the proposal could conduct a linguistic or semantic analysis to identify where other language could be used to facilitate compliance.
- The proposal could show or determine how the language of regulations has evolved over time. The proposal can show or determine how newer or amended regulations exhibit different features than older regulations.
- The proposal could use natural language analysis combined with internet searching to produce an accurate list of documents incorporated by reference, the languages in which they are available, their source and whether there is a cost to access them.
- The proposal could provide a systematic analysis of comparative regulations between Canada and the US and/or the EU. For example, the proposal provides a way to see how similar subject matter is regulated in the US and EU.
- The proposal could provide insight on overlapping or related aspects of federal and provincial regulations.
- The proposal could determine which regulations make reference to outdated technologies by finding such words as: paper, scan, print, mail, fax, signature, written, pen ,pencil, ink, physical, carbon copy, hard copy, original copy, in person, proof, signed, notary, on site, file, filing, submit, submission(non-electronic), document (excluding electronic).

Consolidation/Aggregation/Streamlining

- The proposal could use cluster analysis to suggest ways to group regulations together or areas where regulators should coordinate.

- The proposal could create a mapping that establishes the links between regulations and businesses/sectors that are regulated. (for example using North American Industry Classification System codes)
- The proposal could visually depict groupings of regulations to simplify understanding and decision-making. For example, showing clusters of regulations, or plotting them on a multivariable graph or heatmap. The proposal can show how this has evolved over time.
- Some regulations have characteristics unique to a particular sector or industry (i.e., terminology, reference to specific technologies, standards or requirements). The proposal could identify patterns of potential overlap or duplication as well as variations in regulations.

Compliance/Reporting Burden

- The proposal could provide a means of identifying compliance/reporting burden by finding regulations that use modes of service delivery that are outdated in that context (i.e. phones, fax machines, paper copies, etc)
- The proposal could provide insights into the efficacy, a link to business innovation or efficiency of regulations in the following sector groupings: transport/infrastructure, health/biosciences, agrifood/aquaculture.

Other Regulatory Insights Based on Own Knowledge or Review of Issues Raised by Stakeholders

- The proposal could provide methodologies or proofs of concept that could, with additional data and information, link the text of regulations to the private sector performance of regulated parties. For example, by linking the form, language or spirit that a regulation takes directly to the performance of a certain sector in the economy.
- Some regulations attract a considerable amount of legal attention (case law, legal opinions, etc). The proposal could determine specific characteristics (such as wording or prescriptivity) that are associated with such legal attention.
- The proposal could identify these characteristics at the consultation stage (Canada Gazette I.)
- The proposal could use regulatory data in conjunction with internet data to determine which regulations are likely to be stale or no longer in use.

TIMING

It is expected that the contest would begin in June 2018, for completion in August 2018. CSPS in partnership with TBS will host a showcase event in October 2018 where all qualifying participants will be invited to present their proposals, methodologies and outputs. Prizes will be awarded at that time.

ROLE AND RESPONSIBILITIES

The participant will be responsible for scoping out and producing an analytical output that would provide insights on the federal regulatory stock and a description of the methodological process that supports the output.

CSPS will be responsible for organizing at least one monthly meeting to convene a set of regulatory experts to answer questions from prospective participants. All enquiries or issues concerning this solicitation must be submitted in writing to the Contracting Authority named on the cover page of the RFP. It is the responsibility of the participant to obtain clarification of the requirements contained herein, if necessary prior to submitting a proposal.

DELIVERABLES

The participant will provide CSPS with a Technical Proposal, consisting of the following deliverables no later than September 14th, 2018:

1. Analysis Report: As drawn from the advanced analytics method selected by the participant, an Analysis Report as the first deliverable will summarize insights on trends, relationships and other characteristics of the federal regulatory stock.

This first deliverable should be digital, and provide written and visualized analysis that is easy to understand. Required sections for this report include: an executive summary, high-level methodology, summary of insights (findings), and recommendations for further analysis. This first deliverable could also include access to an interactive online tool for demonstration and exploration purposes. This first deliverable would be made public online to showcase the work and share the insights openly for three years following the October showcase event.

2. Methodology of Analytics: A second deliverable would include information on the methodology (e.g. weighting for types of words; data sources used), so that CSPS can assess the applicable use of these insights, and the validity and reliability of the analysis. This information would not be publically disclosed as it may pertain to third party proprietary information.

NUMBER OF WINNERS

Due to the nature of the contest, it is envisioned that there will be multiple successful participants. While the “winners” will be identified at the showcase event in October, all participants that meet the mandatory requirements (see Appendix E) in the RFP will be given the opportunity to showcase their submission at the showcase event.

Additionally, all participants meeting the mandatory requirements as defined in Appendix E will be added to a pre-qualified vendor list that will be made available to other government departments and agencies for a three-year period.

Resources for Participants

The following data sources are the main focus of the project:

The present list of Acts and Regulations

The Justice Canada FTP server (<ftp://205.193.86.89/>) contains a file that is updated on an ongoing basis called data.zip (<ftp://205.193.86.89/data.zip>) that contains the Acts and Regulations as of the date of archiving. This archive contains Regulations that are marked up in XML format. The data dictionary in English: (<http://laws-lois.justice.gc.ca/eng/XML/index.html>) and French (<http://laws-lois.justice.gc.ca/fra/XML/index.html>). It should be noted that the archive also includes Statutory Instruments (filenames that start with SI) that are not considered Regulations for this project. The archive also contains repealed regulations, which are outside of scope. The <Repealed></Repealed> tag may apply to only parts of the regulation, but may apply to the regulation as a whole.

Point-in-time archive of Acts and Regulations

On the same FTP, there is a directory for point-in-time archives: (<ftp://205.193.86.89/PITXML/>). There are ZIP archives as well as an uncompressed file structure. The structure differs slightly from the above in order to accommodate previous dates.

The following are other data sources that may provide additional insight:

1.0 METHOD OF SELECTION

- 1.1 The evaluation process is designed to identify the most qualified participants to provide deliverables as stipulated in the Statement of Work (Appendix B).
- 1.2 This section comprises the detailed proposal requirements that will be used to evaluate participant's responses to the RFP.
- 1.3 The mandatory requirements under section 2.0 (see below) will be evaluated on a compliant/non-compliant basis. The proposals must include the necessary documentation to demonstrate this compliance.
- 1.4 To be considered Responsive, a proposal must meet all the mandatory requirements specified in section 2.0 below.
- 1.5 Failure of a proposal to provide information in sufficient detail and depth to permit evaluation against the identified criteria may render a proposal non-responsive.
- 1.6 The participant acknowledges and agrees that Canada is not responsible to search for, and therefore evaluate, information that is not properly referenced or is not otherwise provided in accordance with the Proposal Preparation Instructions in Part 2, Article 3.0.

2.0 MANDATORY REQUIREMENTS

Failure to comply with any of the mandatory requirements will render the proposal non-compliant and the proposal will receive no further consideration.

Proposers must indicate the location (e.g. page, paragraph number, etc.) of the information provided in the Technical Proposal to support the mandatory requirements.

Number	Mandatory Technical Criterion	Participant's Response
M1	The product must be relevant and based on accurate data and information. This means that upon submission, the deliverable must have the ability to demonstrate immediate application or use by the contract authority. (i.e. analytical output and methodological report).

3.0 POINT RATED REQUIREMENTS

The participant should address the rated requirements in the order in which they are listed and in sufficient detail so that an in-depth evaluation is possible. These criteria will be used by CSPA to evaluate each proposal. The assessment by CSPA will be based solely on the information contained in the proposal. An item not addressed will be given zero (0) points under the point-rated system. CSPA may, but is not obligated to, ask the participant for clarifications.

The participants is requested to use the following table to identify where the information can be found in the proposal (i.e. identify the page/project number, etc.)

Number	Point-Rated Criterion	Points	Cross reference to proposal
1	Results – ability to demonstrate value-added to regulatory policy analysis	40
2	Scalability – replicable and applicable to ongoing TBS regulatory policy/challenge function	20
3	Flexibility – Insight into other areas of the regulatory stock that could be modernized via various approaches	20
4	Verifiability – The methodology for the insights can be tested	40
