PSPC and SSC Cloud Procurement Responsibilities

PSPC and SSC jointly support federal organizations in procuring IT goods and services. With respect to procuring cloud-based offerings, the procurement responsibilities of each organization extends to the various elements of the cloud stack from the infrastructure to the software application layers. The division of procurement responsibilities reflects the procurement mandates of each respective organization in supporting GC clients.

In line with each organization's mandate, SSC's procurement role in cloud-based offerings mirrors their responsibilities in managing the GC infrastructure, networks, common workplace technology devices and cyber security (IaaS, PaaS). PSPC's procurement role is primarily in software application and development space (SaaS), supporting clients in their service delivery and back-office functions. Note: the diagram below represents the division of responsibilities only and is not specific to a requirement:
