SECTION A - QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Question 1

Section 4.1. Material Performance Requirement Characteristics of TECHNICAL REQUIREMENTS of ANNEX E, SPECIFICATION FOR MULTISPECTRAL SCRIM (MS) states:

“4.1.1 The MS must have a Minimum Mechanical Resistance ≥ 250 N in each of the two axes when tested in accordance with ISO 1421, Strip Test Method.”

This material specification does not contain any specifics on fibre type and weight for the MS. Can the Technical Authority please provide this additional information?

Answer 1

There are no restrictions on the type of fibre to be used for the Multispectral Scrim. As long as the material meets all technical requirements of ANNEX E, SPECIFICATION FOR MULTISPECTRAL SCRIM (MS), it will be deemed compliant. A compliant material was specified for the outer layer of our camouflage nets. It is a synthetic woven material.

Question 2

Can the Technical Authority provide the names of any known suppliers for the MS material specified in TECHNICAL REQUIREMENTS of ANNEX E, SPECIFICATION FOR MULTISPECTRAL SCRIM?

Answer 2

This is the first purchase of Multispectral Scrim in CADPAT™ colours. The current supplier for camouflage nets to Canada is SAAB BARRACUDA AB and they have produced compliant material in larger formats (nets). There are other CADPAT™ printers that may be able to produce the material including Textiles Monterey (1996) Inc, Lincoln Fabrics, and ONEGA Protective Fabrics Inc.
