QUESTION AND ANSWER

Question 23

In relation to the IT Professional Omnibus - 47419-252068/B - Resource Mandatory Technical Evaluation Criteria, Resource Category: Application/Software Architect (SAP BASIS) – Level 3 – MT2.

Can you please define a "New SAP implementation"? For example, would going from ECC to Hana or implementing new modules qualify if the criteria listed is met?

Answer 23

Migrating from ECC6 to S4/HANA is significant enough to qualify as a new SAP implementation for the purpose of this criteria, however implementing new modules clearly falls within the scope of MT3. If ECC-to-S4/4HANA experience is used to qualify as a new implementation under MT2 then it cannot also be used to qualify as a significant upgrade under MT3.

Other than that, a new SAP implementation can be considered as a complete operational SAP system with integration points that has its own separate landscape and environment, but which is entirely independent and shares no commonality of purpose or infrastructure with any other SAP system within the organization, or a brand new SAP system into an organization without any SAP whatsoever
