Amendment 007 is being issued to provide an answer to submitted questions. Questions #1 to #26 were answered in previous Solicitation amendments.

QUESTION #27

SOW 9.7 states “9.7 All marine architecture and engineering documents must be signed by a certified naval architect or marine engineer as appropriate.” However, the qualification requirements for the Project Manager, Senior Naval Architect Engineer and Senior Marine Engineer do not require any professional engineering certification. Will the government please clarify if this certification is a mandatory requirement, and how/if this is to be balanced against the Marine Engineer seagoing certification?

ANSWER #27

The Contractor will need to ensure that all marine architecture and engineering documents are signed by a certified naval architect or marine engineer as appropriate. The signatory does not need to be a member of the Core Project Team.

QUESTION #28

Travel and Living costs are not part of the evaluated price, though they are likely to be a major component of the cost. Given this, will the government’s evaluation of the project management plans take into account the location of the proposed team and its ability to offer major cost savings to the government?

ANSWER #28

Project Management Plans submitted by Bidders will be evaluated in accordance with R 1. The location of the Bidder’s proposed team is not included in the evaluation criteria for R 1 and will not be assessed.

ALL OTHER TERMS AND CONDITIONS REMAIN THE SAME
