PART A: QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Question #013

General Question

Question #013:

Could Canada provide additional clarity on the role of the Business Partner in the context of the CIPO IT Modernization initiative? This is important from a risk management perspective, as each of the Partners to CIPO will be contracted separately and solely accountable to Canada for the requirements of their specific contract and individual Task Authorizations. Specifically, could Canada confirm that the role of the Business Partner is to provide CIPO with the deliverables outlined in the RFP and that the Business Partner:

- a) Is acting in an advisory capacity to Canada in all areas described in the Statement of Work?
- b) Will support Canada in producing discrete deliverables or provide specific services related to the Statement of Work independent of those provided by the Technology Partners?
- c) Is not managing, reviewing deliverables or providing oversight of the Technology Partners who are directly contracted, managed and administered by Canada?
- d) Will complete work according to schedules in the BPS Task Authorizations independently with Canada?

Answer #013:

- a) In addition to acting in an advisory capacity, the Business Partner is requested to provide leadership and management services to CIPO. This will require the Business Partner to deliver various deliverables as required by the SOW and as specified in individual Task Authorizations (TAs). However, in no case will the Business Partner be required to direct or manage the work of the Technology Partners. It is anticipated that the Business Partner will, amongst others:
 - i. Establish and manage integrated release plans in conjunction with CIPO and the Technology Partners;
 - ii. Help CIPO co-ordinate and orchestrate delivery of work packages for the CDS and IPRMS portfolios;
 - iii. Validate and iterate Enterprise-wide architecture and target operating model;
 - iv. Facilitate development of Enterprise-wide business processes;
 - v. Develop target portfolio implementation strategy and plan; and
 - vi. Develop solicitation strategies and solicitation documents.
- b) The Business Partner will be required to support Canada by producing discrete deliverables and delivering specific services. Although the TAs to be given to the Business Partner will never have a contractual dependency on the work of the Technology Partners, the three (3) Partners will be expected to work collaboratively to achieve the ultimate outcome sought which is to provide CIPO with modern IT systems. Therefore, the Business Partner will be required to consult and work collaboratively with Technology Partners,

GC employees and other GC partners for the duration of the contract as the Technology Partner Services and the Business Partner Services will be performed concurrently to deliver solutions.

- c) Under the Business Partner Services RFP, the Business Partner will not direct, manage or provide oversight of the Technology Partners. There are no contractual obligations or accountabilities between the three (3) Partners. The Business Partner may be requested to review deliverables of the Technology Partners relative to the Task Authorization requirements and then communicate their findings to Canada.
- d) As per (b), the Business Partner will be required to consult and work collaboratively with the Technology Partners. For instance, it is possible that for a given initiative, the Business Partner is responsible for ideation and discovery and the Technology Partners are responsible for delivery and release. Under these situations, the "hand-off" is always from the Partner to Canada since the three (3) Partners are accountable to Canada and not to each other.

PART B: RFP REVISIONS
