This amendment is raised to answer the following question:

Question 2:

In order to be able to bid on the contract, we would need more specifications. Are you able to provide a technical drawing? Is there a different numbering on each ring? It's not clear.

Answer 2:

Yes, there is a unique and different number on each bird band.

Unfortunately, we are not able to provide technical drawing but the USGS bird banding laboratory website provides some additional information about bird bands.

https://www.usgs.gov/centers/pwrc/science/about-federal-bird-bands?qt-science\_center\_objects=0#qt-science\_center\_objects

The images on the website are not specific to the particular sizes and stamping that we are requesting, but rather show the shape and general design.

The sizes we are ordering are similar to the smallest sizes in the top picture, while the enlarged images under "butt-end bands" are bigger sizes than we are requesting.
