44	The page count is extremely restrictive when you factor in all of the requirements that PWGSC is requesting. Would you please consider not counting the reference forms in the page count?	The page count in SRE 2.5 shall be amended to read 40 pages. Refer to Amendment 007, #42
45	With reference to addendum 06 question 39 definition of Contract Administrator and the attached bulletin published by the Ontario Architects Association: If you review the OAA document attached, most if not all architectural practices look at Contract Administration as the task of managing the construction contract between a Client and their General Contractor or Construction Manager. This work commences after award of a contract to a builder. Therefore, the Contract Administrator would be the individual responsible for leading this scope of work. The response as stated to question 39, refers more to the scope of an architectural Project Manager or a Design Manager. We respectfully request you to reconsider your definition of	We have described the role in Q39. We will amend the name of this position from "Contract Administrator" to "Project Manager".

	Contract Administrator as issued in Addendum 6.
46	Referring to the Attachment 1 (Client Reference Form), the RFP documents require that this form is signed by the client. For one of our projects, there have been many changes in the client's organization since the project was completed just a few years ago. No senior officials at that company are in a position to validate the information in our form. Would it be acceptable for the reference form to be signed by the Construction Manager who executed the project, acting as an agent of the client? (The CM was not our direct client).	The Client Reference Form, Section B, must only be completed by the Proponent's client. The form confirms that information presented in Section A is valid.
