Question 1:

Is it ok to utilize a diesel-powered excavator to do the slab demolition if the appropriate measures are taken to properly ventilate the space?

Answer 1:

YES. The space must be adequately ventilated in accordance with all applicable standards. There are occupied buildings connected to the Fish Lab and there will be absolutely no tolerance for fumes, or any other odours, dust associated with this work, escaping to the occupied buildings. The Contractor is responsible to ensure penetrations are adequately sealed and there is absolutely no transfer of debris or odour through the penetrations into the adjacent occupied buildings.. If dust or fumes penetrate outside of the Fish Lab, the Contractor will be required to substitute the excavator or other equipment or removal methods, with Departmental Representative's approval, for other means at no additional cost.
