AMENDMENT 001

HEIGHT ADJUSTABLE WORKSTATIONS AND DUAL ARM MONITORS

This amendment is raised to answer questions with regards to this Request for Proposal.

Question 1:

On Page 16, Specifications, it indicates that Height Adjustable Legs must have (among others):

- adjustable angle from 90 degrees to 180 degrees

Can you please clarify exactly what the requirement is for these legs and maybe provide a diagram of the intention?

Answer 1:

Support bars beneath the work surfaces (or whatever mechanism is used to connect the height adjustable legs so they move together in tandem) must be able to be arranged/rearranged (if furniture reconfigurations are required in future) in a manner that will allow configurations forming a 90° L-shape on both the left and right side, or a continuous 180° straight surface (i.e. the three positions demonstrated in the illustration below).
