QUESTION #001

Section 7.4 (a): This section makes reference to “2030 (2021-12-02), General Conditions - Higher Complexity – Goods”. By checking the Standard Acquisition Clauses and Conditions Manual we noticed that there are other General Conditions described as “2035 - General Conditions - Higher Complexity – Services”.

Question: considering that the products that we will be offering are SaaS (Software as a Service), should the “ID 2035 - General Conditions - Higher Complexity – Services” be applicable, instead of General conditions for Goods?

ANSWER #001

The Information Products commodity is defined as commercially available information that does not include alterations or customizations. The information can be provided through an annual subscription or as a one-time purchase, and can be made available via online access or where applicable, in print format. Public Services and Procurement Canada (PSPC) defines Information Products as “intangible property” and is therefore treated as a Good.

Given that the requirement is defined as Licensed Product(s) Subscription Services to access a Commercial Off-the-Shelf (COTS) Biological Sequence Databases Search Tool (BSDST), it is treated as a Good and therefore the Standard Acquisition Clauses and Conditions (SACC) 2030 (2021-12-02), General Conditions - Higher Complexity – Goods apply to the bid solicitation, including the resulting contract clauses.
