Question 1

Would you accept a bid with 2 different laboratory companies working together, one performing the Salt mist Testing and the second one performing the UV exposure testing?

Answer 1

Yes, two suppliers can work together to complete the requirement. For example, one could be identified as the primary supplier and the other as a subcontractor, or the bid could be submitted as a joint venture.

---

Question 2

Would you accept a bid to perform only one of the tests (salt mist test)?

Answer 2

No, both testing identified in the bid solicitation is required. If only one testing is identified in a proposal, it will be deemed non-compliant with the requirements of the solicitation.
