4.1.2 Financial Evaluation

Only the proposals that are technically responsive will be considered for financial evaluation.

For the purposes of bid evaluation, Basis of Payment, Appendix “E” will be used. The Bidder must provide a firm all-inclusive price for the online web hosted platform along with the associated creation of interactive questions and answers and online courses as per Appendix “D” Statement of Work.

The “TOTAL EVALUATED PRICE” in Appendix “E”, Basis of Payment, excluding taxes, will be used to determine the financial evaluation score.

4.1.3 Formulas in Pricing Schedule

If the Pricing Schedule provided to bidders include any formula, Canada may re-input the prices provided by bidders into a fresh table, if Canada believes that the formulae may no longer be functioning properly in the version submitted by a bidder.

4.2 Basis of Selection

4.2.1 Basis of Selection - Highest Combined Rating of Technical Merit and Price

4.2.1.2 To be declared responsive, a bid must:

- a. comply with all the requirements of the bid solicitation; and
- b. meet all mandatory criteria;

4.2.1.3 Bids not meeting (a) or (b) will be declared non-responsive.

4.2.1.4 The selection will be based on the highest responsive combined rating of technical merit and price. The ratio will be 70 % for the technical merit and 30 % for the price.

4.2.1.5 To establish the technical merit score, the overall technical score for each responsive bid will be determined as follows: total number of points obtained / maximum number of points available multiplied by the ratio of 70 %.

4.2.1.6 To establish the pricing score, each responsive bid will be prorated against the lowest evaluated price and the ratio of 30 %.

4.2.1.7 For each responsive bid, the technical merit score and the pricing score will be added to determine its combined rating.

4.2.1.8 Neither the responsive bid obtaining the highest technical score nor the one with the lowest evaluated price will necessarily be accepted. The responsive bid with the highest combined rating of technical merit and price will be recommended for award of a contract.

The table below illustrates an example where all three bids are responsive and the selection of the contractor is determined by a 70/30 ratio of technical merit and price, respectively. The total available points equal’s 135 and the lowest evaluated price is $45,000 (45).

Basis of Selection - Highest Combined Rating of Technical Merit (70%) and Price (30%)

APPENDIX “D”, STATEMENT OF WORK

D.1 Title

Providing Information on International Experience Canada to Secondary School Students

D2. Objective

Immigration Refugees and Citizenship Canada, through the International Experience Canada (IEC) program is implementing a strategy to inform and educate secondary school students on opportunities for work and travel experiences abroad as part of IEC’s academic sector engagement strategy. This strategy includes increased awareness of different cultures other than their own, helping to instill an appreciation and understanding of Canadian culture and citizenship.

IEC is seeking a contractor that will allow IEC to reach students in secondary schools across Canada via an online platform, in an innovative, engaging, and interactive way where students would seek out/research information about the Program through online learning modules and probing questions. The platform must be available in English and French, to provide information on the Program, its ties to meaningful intercultural experiences, improving personal, cultural and civic awareness, and the value and benefits of international experiences in the workforce at a time when youth are planning their next steps after secondary school.

The intent of this initiative is to provide educational learning modules and online questions and answers to secondary school students in course content such as (but not limited to) career development or civics classes in secondary school classrooms across Canada. The objective of this initiative is to educate secondary school students about the options available for international experiences and encourage them to plan early on, to consider going abroad to develop personal and professional skills and competencies, including an increased awareness and appreciation for cultures other than their own.

D3. Background

Originating as a cultural exchange, IEC supports Canada’s cultural and economic interests by facilitating bilateral, reciprocal agreements to allow work and travel opportunities for young Canadians and international youth aged 18-35.

The program provides youth with the opportunity to broaden their perspective of the world and their place in it through international work and travel experience. The program also helps build a competitive global workforce that contributes to Canada’s economic success, and supports increased cultural awareness and inclusivity. IEC fosters people-to-people ties and strengthens relationships between Canada and its partner countries.

In its efforts to raise awareness of the IEC to Canadians, a stakeholder engagement strategy, which includes targeting academic networks, has been implemented. As a result of this engagement, discussions with academic stakeholders have identified a specific information gap to secondary school Canadian youth: informing them of the benefits of work and travel abroad at an early age so that they can begin preparing and planning for international experiences. Related to this, youth may also benefit from learning about the rights, privileges and responsibilities of their own citizenship and its relationship to broader understanding of cultures different than their own.

As IEC is targeting a cultural shift where international experiences become more ingrained into the Canadian mindset, providing accurate information on options and opportunities at an earlier age will be key in encouraging Canadians to plan and prepare for work experiences abroad. At the same time, providing information to this age group could also lead to parents/guardians seeking out accurate and timely information about ways to take advantage of experiences abroad.

This initiative and the resulting knowledge are intended to support the commitments made in IEC's mandate to support the personal and professional development and employability of Canadian participants. The project will provide crucial information and metrics to guide future website development, program direction, policy decisions, and next steps in addressing knowledge and information gaps in this age sector for IEC.

D4. Tasks

The Contractor will support IEC in creating content for up to 40 questions and answers, as well as two online learning courses for two separate topics, in each official language, that are designed to entice secondary school students to learn more about IEC, and working and travelling abroad more generally.

The questions and answers would appear on the Contractor's online platform on a regular basis throughout the life of the contract. The online learning courses will be separate and stand-alone modules outside of the 40 questions and answers, and will be based on topics that will be determined in collaboration with the Contractor and the Project Authority.

To reach a wide range of students across the country, the content is to be hosted on the Contractor's website/online platform administered by the Contractor, and students using the platform will seek out information by researching pages on the IEC, IEC Stakeholders, and IRCC and other Government of Canada websites. Metrics on usage will be tracked, and regular reports will be provided.

D4.1 Overall

IEC is seeking a high level of involvement from the Contractor on this project, and their participation in each project task is required. The Contractor is responsible for working closely with IEC as the project evolves, and ensuring the provision of website metrics and reports reflecting usage of IEC-specific content. The Contractor must also ensure appropriate team resources are available for consultations and meetings. All material developed for this project by the Contractor, including questions, raw data and reports are the property of the Government of Canada.

D4.2 Project launch

The Contractor must attend a meeting with the Project Authority to launch the project. This meeting can be held virtually. The objectives of this meeting will be to review the Contractor's proposal, work plan, and methodology, and to discuss the work to be undertaken and any potential constraints of the impact assessment.

D4.3 Development of questions/answers for use on an online platform

The Contractor will work with the Project Authority to develop up to 40 questions and answers related to International Experience Canada in each official language, for use on the Contractor's website. The Contractor may review and analyze the existing IEC website, other related Government of Canada websites (e.g., travel.gc.ca), appropriate stakeholder websites, and accompanying documentation to assist in question development. Questions and course materials developed under this contract will be translated by the Project Authority.

D4.4 Development of online learning courses

The Contractor will work with the Project Authority to develop stand-alone course content related to International Experience Canada for two topic areas in each official language, for use on the Contractor's website. These courses are anticipated to have at maximum 150 questions per module/topic area to encourage secondary school student to learn about and answer questions on each topic to test gained knowledge. The Contractor may review and analyze the existing IEC website as well as IEC's documentation available on topic areas to determine the best fit for a course/module. Questions and answers that make up each course developed under this contract will be translated by the Project Authority.

As part of the course development, the Contractor will provide a pre- and post-survey tool to help measure students' awareness of the course content before and after completing the course. The Contractor will finalize questions to be used with the Project Authority. Results of the pre- and post-survey will be provided in summary form to the Project Authority.

D4.5 Host IEC questions, and online courses and content

Upon finalization of questions/answers and online courses, the Contractor will host IEC questions and course modules on their website/online platform. It is anticipated that online questions will either randomly appear, be launched or be presented as part of a specific educational component to secondary school students who are registered with, and who are using the website/platform. It is anticipated that online course modules be launched or be presented as part of a specific educational campaign for a specific time to secondary school students who are registered with, and who are using the website/platform. The IEC questions will be available for the duration of the agreement, with an engagement exposure of at least 50,000 engagements. The IEC course modules will be available for a specified and agreed to campaign time frame. The Contractor will also provide support to schools about technical issues when using the IEC content.

To ensure IEC reaches as many secondary students as possible across provinces/territories, the Contractor should have established relationships with secondary schools across Canadian provinces/territories.

D4.6 Provide web usage reports

The Contractor will provide the Project Authority with regular reports that include, but are not limited to:

- Number of questions answered

- Number of times the courses are used/completed during the campaign time frame for each module;
